THE BEHEMOTH!

Posted on September 7, 2008 by Eddie

Category: Computing/Internet

David Ker has created the Bible Behemoth, a link system for sharing interesting, Bible based web posts. I've included the feed as a widget in the side bar - you can look down and get links to the latest reccomended posts on the Scriptures. The potential for sharing interesting stuff is huge, but equally the potential for sharing vast quantities of uninteresting and repetitive posts. I'd encourage you to sign up to the Behomoth, both as a user and also as a contributer (you have to use Google reader) but I would also encourage everyone to be sparing in what they share. Let's only share the really good stuff, if the system is swamped by stuff that very few people want to read it will quickly become less than useless.

- Bible Behemoth Google Reader Page
- Bible Behemoth Blog