Yesterday, I harked back to the 2014 Global Connections conference. While I was checking on links, I came across a couple of other things that I thought I'd post on the blog. The first is a talk that I gave on the first chapter of Colossians. The devotional speaker fell ill before giving his last talk, so I was rounded up at the last minute to fill the slot.

If you receive this by email and the audio player doesn't show up, you can find the talk here.
