Actually, the title is a bit misleading. The figures in this report were reported in 2020, but they actually cover 2019.

This table shows the income for a sample of 110 mission agencies over the last five years. The last year shows a slight decrease, however this needs to be considered in the light of the fact that overall the income has grown significantly over a five year period. For the most part, the agency reports predate the impact of the Covid 19 pandemic and it the impact of that will not be obvious for at least another twelve months.Â
