STEREOTYPES AND REALITY IN THE INNER CITY

Posted on December 7, 2020 by Eddie

Our stereo-types of inner city black kids are all wrong! Those kids are making the world a better place

Category: Observations

I'm going to cheat in today's blog post and not actually write anything myself. Instead, I'm going to post a series of tweets in response to Friday's blog post. The first one is by Chris Howles, a missionary in Uganda and then there are a number of responses from Graham Miller, the CEO of London City Mission. I'm sorry for the repetition in the threads, but I'm not sure how to get around this.

https://twitter.com/Windy_London/status/1335350742056636416?s=20

https://twitter.com/Windy_London/status/1335351537867116545?s=20

https://twitter.com/Windy_London/status/1335352312630538244?s=20

https://twitter.com/Windy_London/status/1335352966639923212?s=20