AD30 ALL OVER AGAIN, AGAIN

Posted on October 17, 2008 by Eddie

Category: Computing/Internet

In May this year, I embedded a video by Reggie McNeal on this site. A few people commented on it at the time and seemed to enjoy it, then it sort of vanished. However, in the last three days, that post has been visited about seventy times. No one has linked to it, so I've no idea how people are coming here to visit that post - but I'd love to know. Has anyone an idea why so many visitors have suddenly started looking at a five month old post?

By the way, if you haven't watched the video, you should. Follow the linkabove.