THE MISSION OF GOD: BACKGROUND

Posted on June 28, 2021 by Eddie

Mission is often defined in terms of what people do. This video shows that this approach is inadequate and, instead, frames mission in terms of the activities of the Triune God throughout Scripture.
Category: Observations

A while ago, I was asked to give a couple of lectures on the missio Dei or mission of God for an agency training event. Given the current circumstances, I ended up having to deliver the lectures as recorded videos.

This first video takes a 30 minute look at the whole biblical narrative in order to set about describing what mission actually is. While this may seem a little dull to some, it lays important groundwork for the follow up which looks at some of the practical implications of this teaching.
