MORE ON READING THE BIBLE MISSIONALLY

Posted on November 24, 2008 by Eddie

Category: Mission

Brian has just updated his list of posts on a reading the Bible from a missional standpoint. This really is an excellent resource and I strongly reccomend you to take a good look at the things he has posted. You can find the list here.

While on the subject, don't forget to look at Michael Goheen's excellent paper on missional hermeneutic here.

If you are unsure about reading blog posts and want to read a 'real book' Chris Wright's booklet on the same subject is well worth getting hold of and it won't break the bank. Truth with a Mission: Reading Scripture Missiologically (Biblical)