PERSECUTION

Posted on January 9, 2009 by Eddie

Category: Observations

> I don't actually mind being slagged off for my faith, or laughed at. I don't mind if folk think I'm bonkers. What would concern me far far more would be if I was being arrogant or pushy and deserving of the abuse.
>
> Spoiled mollycoddled Christians in the comfortable West too often scream persecution when all that's happening is that their own lack of grace has rubbed folk up the wrong way, and those folk have, understandably, let them have it in return.
>
> On the other hand, persecution is real and alive on planet Earth, and I pray for those who're experiencing the true variety.

HT David Keen