(NOT BIBLE) TRANSLATING

Posted on May 27, 2006 by Eddie

Category: Translation

One of the things which I often do at conferences is help with the simultaneous interpretation from English to French. Because I was involved in facilitating our recent meeting, I didn't have time to do any translating, however, on the last night we had a communion service and I sat in the booth and gave the translators a free evening. Here I am translating, with the Chair of the Bible translation from Burkina Faso listening in.

