AUTHORIZED VERSION BUSES

Posted on February 5, 2009 by Eddie

Category: Mission

Following on from the atheist bus adverts, a Christian organisation is now paying for advertisments on buses. However, they have chosen to use texts in the Authorized version. David Keen has just posted a thoughtful piece asking about this.

> what will this ad communicate?
> - that Christians hold non-believers in contempt
> - that we speak funny.