CHRISTIAN CENTRE OF GRAVITY

Posted on June 19, 2006 by Eddie

Categories: Church: World, Mission, Theology

This is an essay which I wrote for my Contemporary Theologies of Mission Module. Sorry, it is rather lengthy, but it might be of interest to some - it takes a different spin on the issue of the relationship between the growing church in the South and the Churches in the traditional Western homeland of Christianity. You will need the free Acrobat Reader to open this file. If nothing else, the bibliography might be of some interest.