BLOGGING A CONFERENCE

I mentioned yesterday that I was I had been listening to my friend Roger give a devotional talk; and today I'm providing photographic proof (if anyone needs it). It's not that I'm being rude and blogging during his talk (I wrote this beforehand and just have to add the photo) but I'll be giving a presentation on blogging, FaceBook, twitter and all that stuff immediately afterwards. This post is one of the things I will demonstrate - if anyone wants to comment very, very quickly, I would be more than grateful! For the record, I'm at a conference centre in Germany, meeting with leaders in the Bible translation movement from across Europe. Home at the weekend!
