HOW THE OTHER HALF LIVES

Posted on August 26, 2009 by Eddie

Category: Africa

Christi Byerly took part in the Kenyan census this week:

> Q â€“ Is your husband married to one wife, or is he polygamous?
> A â€“ Only me!
>
> Q â€“ Where do you get your water?
> A â€“ We were all set to complain about how you never know if city water is actually going to come, or whether it will come from the Daystar campus, or what. But then we realized we had the best of the possible answersâ€“it comes through a pipe (as opposed to carrying it in a bucket from who knows how far away).
>
> Q â€“ How many livestock do you own? Cows, horses, goats, sheep, chickens, etc, etc.
> A â€“ None. What?? None? Not even a CHICKEN???

You can see some more questions and answers and read Christi's reflections here.