THE STANDARD OF POLITICAL DEBATE

Posted on April 2, 2010 by Eddie

Category: Politics

As the election draws closer, the political parties are spending far more time criticising their opponents than they are saying anything positive about what they plan to do. The ever wonderful Matt captured this brilliantly in today's Telegraph.Â You could insert the names of any of the political parties in here and the joke would still work.

