YOU THOUGHT LIFE WHERE YOU LIVE IS TOUGH

Posted on November 23, 2006 by Eddie

Category: Africa

Paul Merril has an interesting blog post today about a subject dear to most missionaries' hearts - toilet paper. I think that this is the first time I've seen a Christian post about loo roll. It tells you important stuff, such as:

> To put things into perspective, the largest country in Africa, Congo, does not have any toilet paper manufacturers. So I am very thankful that Kenya is forward-thinking enough to have its own large and robust manufacturing sector.

I won't repost Paul's photograph from today!

Link to My Part of Nairobi: Production values