SPORTING EVENT OF THE WEEKEND

Posted on June 28, 2010 by Eddie

Category: Observations

The news today is buzzing with stories about England's defeat by Germany in the World Cup. This means that many people are unaware of the most spectacular sporting incident of the weekend which took place at the European Grand Prix. Any other weekend, Mark Webber's crash would have made the front page headlines. The most amazing thing of all was that he got up and walked away from the crash!