Hello, if you are visiting here following Kirk's recommendation, you will be able to sort out the more missiological material from our family news if you follow the category listing to the left (and down a bit). To make things easier for you, here are links to three of the main categories which might interest you.

- Bible Translation
- Missiology
- Theology

There is overlap between these. Please leave comments on any of the articles, they are there to be criticised and developed further.

Thanks
