HAMO STEPS DOWN

Posted on January 19, 2007 by Eddie

Categories: Mission, Reviews

One of my favourite blogs has been Backyard Missionary by Andrew Hamilton. Hamo (as he is known) combines a great sense of humour (if unfortunate bias against the English Cricket team) with insightful comments about the Church and mission. However, Hamo has decided that it is time to take a break from blogging, which is a shame for the rest of us, but I'm sure that the Lord has something else for Hamo to be involved in.

In case it gets lost over the years, Hamo's post onÂ Incarnational versus Attractional mission is one of the best things I've ever read on how churches should go about mission. It's poles apart from the approach most churches take to evangelism - but I can't help believe that Hamo got it right!