BLOGGING AS IT SHOULD BE DONE!

Posted on January 27, 2007 by Eddie

Categories: Observations, Politics

Thanks to Ian Dale for the link to 'Wife in the North'. I'll be the first to admit that the standard of writing in blogs is not always the best - ours included. But for an example of excellent and moving writing read this, then this. You might want to go on and read more, it's all fascinating and well written stuff. My only caveat is that for some reason this woman doesn't seem to want to live in Northumberland! I'd swap!

Does anyone know of any interesting left of centre, or even centre political blogs? I enjoy Ian's stuff, but it hardly matches my own convictions!