CHANGES, CHANGES, CHANGES...

Posted on December 22, 2005 by Eddie

Category: Computing/Internet

If you have visited this site previously, you will notice that it has changed somewhat. The Blog which was rather peripheral to the site is now the front page. Most of the other content, including photographs and contact details will eventually be added once more. But it will take a wee while. I'm going to be experimenting with other themes too, so the colours and layout will change over the Christmas period while I have a play!