FAVOURITE CAROLS

Posted on December 23, 2010 by Eddie

Category: Observations

Mouse has provided a link to a YouGov survey on Britains favourite Christmas carol. Not surprisingly, Silent Night tops the list.

I'm not sure which carol I'd call my favourite; though Hark the Herald does take some beating. However, I do know which is my favourite carol tune and it is one of the (many) alternative tunes to While Shepherds Watched, sung here by the wondeful Kate Rusby. Mind you, I prefer this tune when it is sung more loudly and preferably slightly out of tune, by a group of carol singers. Ah the songs of my lost youth!

If you enjoy this rendition, you should get hold of Kate's Sweet Bells CD.