CARPENTERS IN CONGO

Posted on April 8, 2007 by Eddie

Category: Africa

One last link from my Congo trip. This is a fascinating photo-journal about a cooperative of hearing impaired carpenters by John James of the BBC. Apparently, these guys make amazingly good furniture.Â John lives on the centre where I was staying in Brazzaville. I had dinner with him one evening and it turns out that we have a good few friends in common, not least one of the ministers of our church here in Southampton.