> ... Western Christians have traditionally emphasized the doctrine of sin and grace and handled it as if it were the whole Bible story. In contrast, liberation theology in Latin America has focused on issues of God's love for the poor and his concern for social justice, while African and Filipino theologies often concentrate on God as Lord over the spirit world. In fact no one of these emphases, on its own, is adequate to describe what the Bible is about. We all need to become aware of our particular blind spots. Otherwise we will neglect the unfailing richness of Scripture and its power to address all of life.
