MISSION AGENCY FINANCES 2015-2021

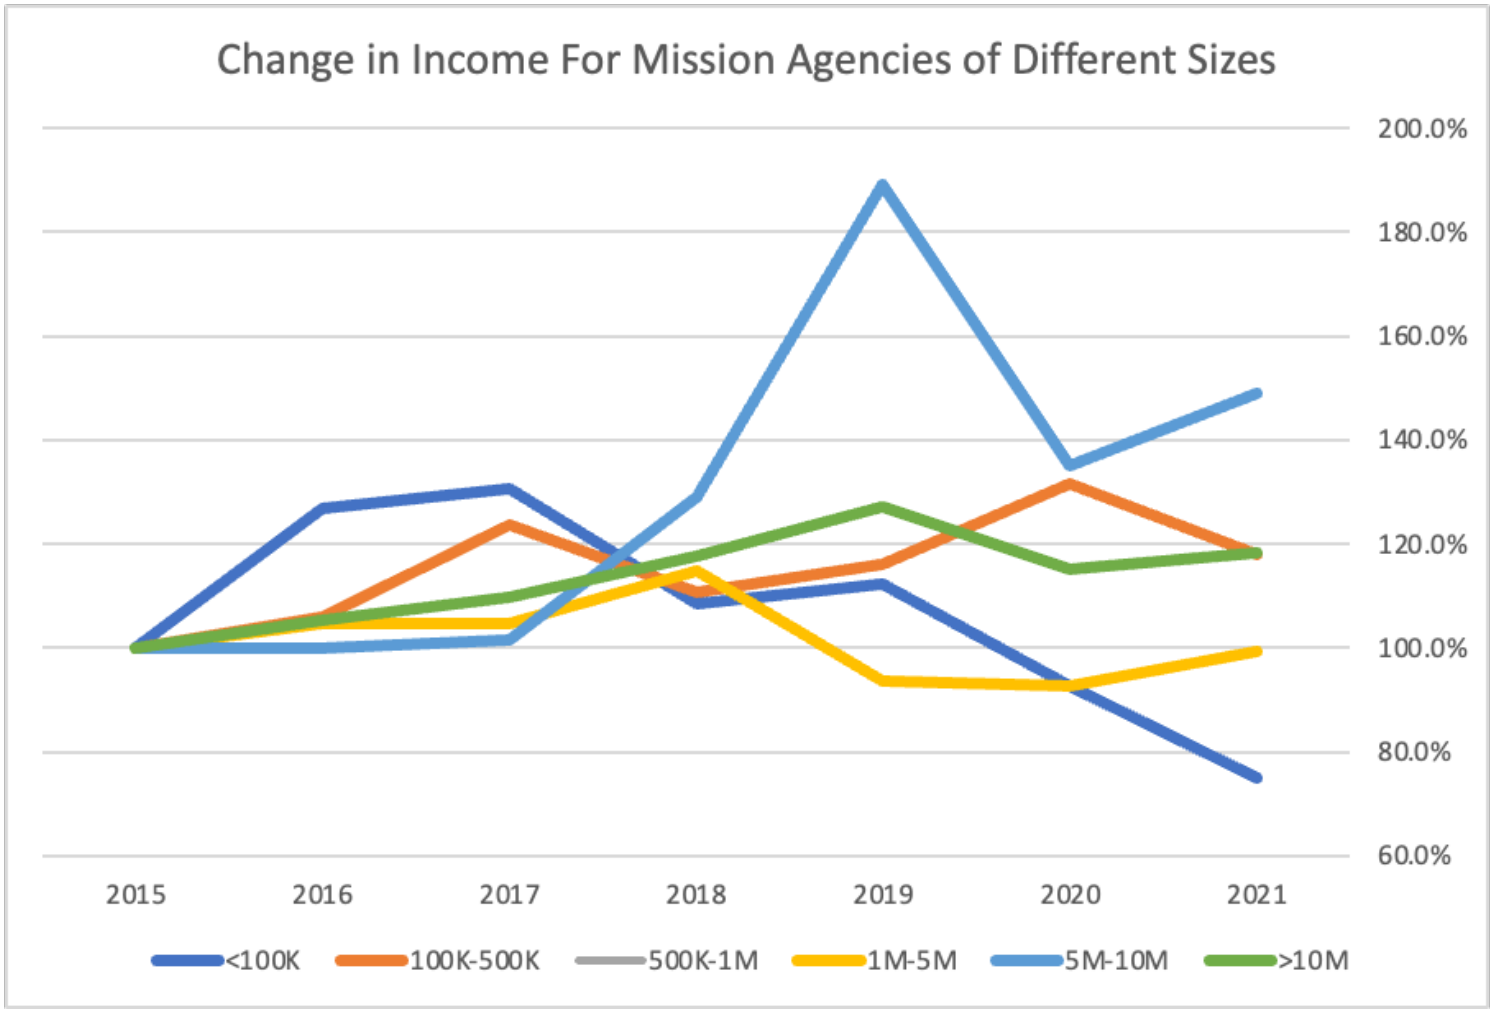

Posted on October 30, 2023 by Eddie

Although there was a slight increase in income across the sample between 2020 and 2021, agency income has not recovered from the falls in the previous two years and overall income is at a very similar level as 2017.

I have updated my analysis of British mission agency finances; the latest report takes us to the end of FY 2021. You can download the report here. Just to give you a highlight of what it contains, I'll post a couple of graphs below.

Can I encourage you to share this with any agency leaders and board members you know. I think that the trends that emerge from this study are useful to all agencies, whether they are thriving or struggling financially.
