BIAS?

Posted on June 18, 2007 by Eddie

Category: Observations

It appears that the BBC are worried that they are being too biased. In particular they are worried that they have been seen to have promoted the make poverty history campaign.

From where I'm sitting, promoting a campaing like Make Poverty History is not evidence of a bias, just good moral sense. Unfortunately, theÂ concenss in our country seems to be such that you can't even promote a moral issue like this one. Shame.