RED KITE

Posted on January 2, 2013 by Eddie

Category: Observations

One of the privileges of living in the High Wycombe area is getting to see these amazing birds soaring over the beech woods. I don't have anything more substantial to add, but I like red kites and I think God does too.