LANGUAGE IN AFRICA

Posted on July 27, 2007 by Eddie

Category: Languages in Africa

The latest edition of Encounters mission ezine (horrible word, I know) has a superb article by Jim Harries on the use of languages in Africa. He is mainly looking at the education scene, but touches tangentially on the issue of Bible Translation, it is well worth a read.Â You can find the PDF here.