ENGLAND VERSUS TONGA

Posted on October 10, 2007 by Eddie

Category: Observations

It's about ten days late, and in the meantime, England have beaten Australia (bring on the French!) but Phil has now blogged about our trip to see England play Tonga at the Parc des Princes.

I watched the Australia game in Kenya with my Kiwi boss, if I hadn't been flying home, I'd have got to watch the New Zealand France match with him too! Shame I missed it, but gloating is such an ugly thing - so perhaps it was best I didn't.