A COUPLE OF PICTURES FROM CHAD

Posted on November 23, 2007 by Eddie

Category: Africa

I spent most of the daylight hours working and hardly saw anything but the centre where I was staying. However, insects seem to have figured in my experiences there, so here is a photo of a bush cricket which kept making a row in our room and a lizard which would have feasted on the mosquitoes in my room before they fed on me!

