I'M REALLY HERE

Posted on January 8, 2008 by Eddie

Category: Observations

When I post photos on the blog they rarely feature me (mainly because I hate being photographed) but here is proof that I am actually in Togo - shopping for fruit in a street market in LomÃ©.

It should be noted that the fruit seller (just visible over my shoulder) was even less keen than me to have her photograph taken and I ended up paying over the top for the fruit to calm her down!