THE CHANGING FACE OF MISSION

Posted on February 10, 2008 by Eddie

Category: Mission

There is an extremely challenging piece on the future of mission to be found at Emerse:

> Accelerated travel accessibility and virtual communications technologies will change the definition of â€œmissionary.â€ An inventory of insurmountable global challenges facing humanity along with rapidly evolving virtual technologies are certain to impact the future(now) church. The structure of our near-future global faith community will bear little resemblance to â€œmissionary /church structureâ€ we have known in the past.
>
> Mission activity will no longer be out of sight, out of mind. An emerging ubiquitous connectivity will help refocus attention and rechannel resources to real needs. Travel â€œcorrespondentsâ€ or local liaisons will upload video or journalistic stories and events â€“ keeping church donors and those directly involved informed of the physical and spiritual needs of a community. Some of the stories could be picked up by major news channels.

Hat tip TSK