WYCLIFFE UK BLOG

Posted on April 15, 2008 by Eddie

Category: Bible Translation

Wycliffe UK has started a blog (to which I will be contributing from time to time). The idea is to give up to date news and comment about the translation of the Scriptures into minority languages around the world as well as picking up on stuff by other Bible translation bloggers. It will be worth sticking on your rss reader if you have one.