REACHING THE WORLD WITH THE WORD

Posted on October 12, 2016 by Eddie

If you want to know what God is like; look at Jesus.
Category: Observations

I apologise for the lack of posts over the past few weeks. I've got various excuses, such as travel, jet-lag and laziness - feel free to accept whichever one you prefer.

As you can see, I was still playing aeroplanes even a day after returning home.

This weekend, IÂ had the privilege of speaking at the Sunday Evening Global Fest meeting at Above Bar Church. The service was based around the theme of Bible translation; a theme I (sort of) picked up in my talk.

You can listen to the talk using the link below. If you have come to this post by email and the embedded media player is not showing up, you can download the talk here.