Don't take my word for it but watch this superb talk on the way in which the growth of the world church mirrors the book of Acts. It's a 45 minute talk by Reggie McNeal and is amazingly funny and even more informative. It makes a very good counterpoint to my earlier posts on World Theology and Non-Western Mission. By the way, you can quite safely just listen to the talk, you don't need to watch it, so you can set it going and then get on with whatever you should be doing in MS Word.
