SQUASHED?

Posted on July 1, 2008 by Eddie

Category: Church: UK

I was at a meeting at the Salvation Army headquarters in the City of London yesterday when this scene caught my eye. Does thie imange make you think that the Church being squashed out by the huge financial buildings all around it or is it at the heart of things witnessing Christ to the world?