NO COMMENT(S)

Sometime in the last ten days or so, I did something to this blog that stopped comments from appearing. I haven't a clue what I did, but I have undone it now - and we got two comments today. If you have tried to comment and failed please try again - it should work now.

I've also been chatting to the people who host this blog and it appears that they block pingbacks, so when I quote someone else's blog, my comments don't get reported on the quoted place. This is annoying, but apparently it's due to a security problem in Wordpress. Any ideas anyone? I really don't fancy all the work of moving this over to another server.
