ESSENTIAL WORLD MISSION RESOURCES

Mission Matters by Tim Chester is probably the best introductory-level book on the subject of what mission is and some of the key issues.

Introducing Christians Mission Today by Mike Goheen is, in my view, the best general text-book level book on the subject. Anyone who is interested in thinking deeply about mission must read this.

Kingdom Without Borders is a superb overview of the church around the world today. It is full of good information and inspiring stories.

Global Humility is probably the key book for anyone who is considering working in cross-cultural mission today.

Christianity in its Global Context is a free download which gives an excellent overview of the situation of the church today.

My downloads page includes a number of resources that are of interest to anyone who wants to know more about mission and the organisations involved in it.
